In accordance with The Ewing Public Schools’ Policy 2230, Course Guides, this curriculum has been reviewed and found to be in compliance with all policies and all affirmative action criteria.
Table of Contents

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Section</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>K-5 Literacy Program Description and Pacing Guide</td>
<td>3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>21\textsuperscript{st} Century Life and Skills</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Section 1: Reading Fictional Literature</td>
<td>6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Section 2: Reading Informational Nonfiction</td>
<td>11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Section 3: Vocabulary Development and Word Work</td>
<td>16</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Section 4: Narrative Writing</td>
<td>20</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Section 5: Expository Nonfiction Essay Writing</td>
<td>24</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Section 6: Argumentative Essay Writing</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Language List</td>
<td>32</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Glossary of Terms</td>
<td>33</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sample Standards Integration</td>
<td>34</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
K-5 Literacy Program Description and Pacing Guide

The students enrolled in the Ewing Township Public Schools participate in a balanced literacy program that is “grounded in scientifically based reading research which supports the essential elements and practices that enable all students to achieve literacy” (National Reading Panel, 2000). There are three goals of our literacy program: 1) to help students read and comprehend grade level texts independently, 2) to assist students with text-based thinking and writing and 3) to empower students with a love of reading.

Balanced literacy can be seen in a classroom with teachers reading aloud and with students participating in: 1) shared reading, 2) guided reading, 3) independent reading and 4) modeled and shared writing. Ongoing formative assessment within a balanced literacy classroom provides data that allow teachers to make sound educational decisions about each individual student in a classroom.

Scope and Sequence for Reading Units of Study:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th>Marking Period 1</th>
<th>Marking Period 2</th>
<th>Marking Period 3</th>
<th>Marking Period 4</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Kindergarten</td>
<td>Launching the Reading Workshop and Working with Partners</td>
<td>Reading Fiction</td>
<td>Reading Nonfiction</td>
<td>Reading and Writing Content-Specific Nonfiction</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1st Grade</td>
<td>Launching the Reading Workshop and Building Foundational Reading Skills</td>
<td>Reading Fiction</td>
<td>Reading Nonfiction</td>
<td>Writing about Reading (across genres)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2nd Grade</td>
<td>Launching the Reading Workshop and Character Study</td>
<td>Reading Fiction, Fables and Folktales</td>
<td>Reading Nonfiction</td>
<td>Reading and Writing Nonfiction and Reading Poetry</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3rd Grade</td>
<td>Launching the Reading Workshop and Close Reading and Text-Based Writing</td>
<td>Nonfiction Reading Workshop</td>
<td>Reading Fiction, Fables, Folktales and Myths</td>
<td>Poetry Reading and Reading Workshop</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4th Grade</td>
<td>Launching the Reading Workshop and Close Reading and Text-Based Writing</td>
<td>Nonfiction Reading Workshop and Close Reading of Nonfiction Texts</td>
<td>Historical Fiction Close Read and Book Clubs</td>
<td>Student-Directed Book Clubs</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5th Grade</td>
<td>Launching the Reading Workshop and Close Reading for Fiction Signposts</td>
<td>Close Reading of Nonfiction Texts and Historical Fiction Book Study</td>
<td>Nonfiction Signposts and Reading and Writing across Genres</td>
<td>Student-Directed Book Clubs</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Scope and Sequence for Writing Units of Study:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Grade</th>
<th>Marking Period 1</th>
<th>Marking Period 2</th>
<th>Marking Period 3</th>
<th>Marking Period 4</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Kindergarten</td>
<td>Building Foundational Writing Skills (e.g., letters, names, sight words, etc.)</td>
<td>Fiction Writing and Adding Details</td>
<td>Nonfiction and Poetry Writing</td>
<td>Nonfiction and Poetry Writing</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1st Grade</td>
<td>Launching the Writing Workshop and Narrative Writing</td>
<td>Fiction Writing and Adding Details</td>
<td>Nonfiction and Opinion Writing</td>
<td>Poetry Writing</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2nd Grade</td>
<td>Building a Writing Community and Adding Details</td>
<td>Fiction Writing</td>
<td>Nonfiction and Letter Writing</td>
<td>Opinion and Poetry Writing</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3rd Grade</td>
<td>The Writing Community, the Writing Process and Opinion Writing</td>
<td>Opinion and Expository Nonfiction Writing</td>
<td>Expository Nonfiction and Narrative Writing</td>
<td>Narrative and Poetry Writing</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4th Grade</td>
<td>The Writing Community, the Writing Process and Opinion Writing</td>
<td>Opinion and Narrative Writing</td>
<td>Narrative Writing and Expository Nonfiction</td>
<td>Expository Nonfiction and Poetry Writing</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5th Grade</td>
<td>The Writing Community, the Writing Process and Narrative Writing</td>
<td>Narrative Writing and Expository Nonfiction</td>
<td>Expository Nonfiction and Opinion Writing</td>
<td>Opinion and Poetry Writing</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
21st Century Life and Careers

In today's global economy, students need to be lifelong learners who have the knowledge and skills to adapt to an evolving workplace and world. To address these demands, Standard 9, 21st Century Life and Careers, which includes the 12 Career Ready Practices, establishes clear guidelines for what students need to know and be able to do in order to be successful in their future careers.

The 12 Career Ready Practices

These practices outline the skills that all individuals need to have to truly be adaptable, reflective, and proactive in life and careers. These are researched practices that are essential to career readiness.

CRP4. Communicate clearly and effectively and with reason.
In English Language Arts, it is essential for students to communicate clearly and effectively. This is demonstrated through writing with a clear purpose and an appropriate audience in mind. Students also need to clearly communicate verbally, which is practiced in the English Language Arts classroom. Effective communicators are also active listeners. These skills are essential in the academic setting and the workplace.

CRP7. Employ valid and reliable research strategies.
Research strategies are infused throughout the English Language Arts curriculum. It is imperative for students to utilize effective research strategies in order to formulate an argument, to support a thesis, and to research across content areas. Students need to use multiple sources in order to write a comprehensive research paper. Finally, students need to discern whether sources are reliable in order to present strong pieces of information and argument essays. Research skills are essential in the academic setting and the workplace.

CRP8. Utilize critical thinking to make sense of problems and persevere in solving them.
In order for students to be successful in school, in life, and in their career, they need to be critical thinkers and problem solvers. In English Language Arts classes, students learn to read and write critically. Through discussions and by actively engaging in speaking and listening, students will develop the necessary skills to be critical thinkers. In order to be productive citizens of the 21st century we need to ensure students can persevere in order to reach the solution of any problem.

Technology Integration

8.1 Educational Technology
All students will use digital tools to access, manage, evaluate, and synthesize information in order to solve problems individually and collaborate and create and communicate knowledge.

8.2 Technology Education, Engineering, Design and Computational Thinking - Programming
All students will develop an understanding of the nature and impact of technology, engineering, technological design, computational thinking and the designed world as they relate to the individual, global society, and the environment.

Social Studies Integration - The social studies and English departments worked to integrate Research Simulation Tasks into both sets of curricula to provide ample opportunities to respond across content areas. The Research Simulation Task requires students to analyze an informational topic through several articles or multimedia stimuli. Students read and respond to a series of questions and synthesize information from multiple sources in order to write an analytic essay.

Companion Standards 11-12 - History, Social Studies, Science and Technical Subjects
Section 1: Reading Fictional Literature
Pacing 90 Days Every Day for 1 hour
(Equivalent to 2 Marking Periods)

Why Is This Unit Important?

Fiction is defined as “something invented by the imagination or feigned, specifically an invented story; fictitious literature such as novels or short stories” (Merriam-Webster). The big ideas included in this unit of study are:

- There are many genres of fiction, each with its own identifiable features.
- Fictional stories, short or long, include common literary elements.
- Short stories share common elements with chapter books, but they share differences as well.
- Authors use literary devices and figurative language thoughtfully to convey a particular message in a very specific way. It is important that readers pay careful attention to such wording.

Enduring Understandings:

- Works of literature can be categorized into genres and subgenres.
- All works of fiction include character, setting, conflict, resolution and central message or theme.
- Understanding the structure of fictional works enables a reader to comprehend “the gist” of a story that may be above his or her independent reading level.
- While short stories and chapter books include common elements, a short story is more focused and may be read in only one sitting.
- Literary device and figurative language are intentionally used by an author to allow a reader to more clearly visualize or become emotionally attached to a story. A story or novel written using such language reads very differently than one without such writing.

Essential Questions:

- Why must fiction be approached differently than nonfiction reading? What makes each different?
- Must all fictional pieces follow the same exact format (e.g., plot pyramid, story map)?
- How does one identify theme when it’s not explicitly stated in a story?
- How do literary devices and figurative language in storytelling change the way the story is read and received?
- What strategies can a reader employ if a text is above his/her independent reading level or when a text focuses on a topic unknown to the reader?
Acquired Knowledge:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>5th Grade</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>There are many subgenres of fiction including but not limited to stories (i.e., realistic, adventure, historical, fantasy, etc.), fables, folktales, fairytales, myths and legends, as well as poetry and drama.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stories or books told from the 1st person point of view limit a reader’s understanding of events beyond the narrator’s explanation.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The structural elements of story writing (prose) differ from the structural elements of poetry or drama (i.e., cast of characters, setting descriptions, dialogue, stage directions, acts and scenes).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>An author provides multiple characters, events or settings within a story to enable readers to compare and contrast them.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Elements of a myth are reflective of the culture from which that myth originated.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Patterns of events or repeated information presented in a text often lead a reader to the story’s theme.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Authors include both literal and figurative language in narrative and poetic writing (i.e., rhyme and repetition such as alliteration), all of which must be understood for full comprehension to occur.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Highlighting a text or chunking and annotating it will help a reader to remain active when reading and comprehend a story, even one above his/her independent reading level.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Text-based evidence (e.g., details, specific examples and quotes) must be used to support one’s thoughts when responding to a question related to a reading.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Acquired Skills:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>5th Grade</th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Read a variety of genres of fiction literature and discuss his/her literary preferences based upon the key characteristics evident in each subgenre of fiction.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Identify the author’s purpose for a specific literary work: to entertain, to express, to persuade or to inform.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Identify a story as either 1st or 3rd person point of view and explain how a literary work may change if the narrator’s point of view changed.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Deduce that stories or books told from the 1st person point of view limit a reader’s understanding of events beyond the narrator’s experience; stories told from the 3rd person point of view are limited in personal reflection and emotional impact.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Differentiate between the structural elements of prose, poetry and drama.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Compare and contrast characters, events or settings in a story (i.e., foil characters).</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Explain how a change within one literary element (e.g., emotional change in a character; setting change) impacts the progression of events and plot and/or the story’s theme or central message.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Analyze the features of legends, myths, folktales and fairytales and connect such literature to cultures from around the world.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Determine the theme of a story by analyzing patterns of events or repeated information in the text.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Examine literal and figurative language provided in a story or poem and explain how such language adds to the work.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Read a grade level text, identify the topic and general main idea or “gist” of the story and identify key details that scaffold to that main idea (e.g., highlight key details, write margin notes and use those notes to draft a summary).</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Write an objective summary including key details from the beginning, middle and end of the story as well as the story’s theme.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Use details, specific examples and quotes from the text to support one’s thoughts when responding to a question related to a reading.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Assessments: Suggested assessments, but not limited to those listed

Formative:
- Teacher observation, conference and anecdotal notes
- Small or large group discussion

Summative:
- A variety of student written response (i.e., journals, graphic organizers, highlighting or annotating evidence, etc.)

Benchmark:
- Text-based reading and writing quarterly assessment
- STAR Reading Assessment

Instructional Materials:

Core:
- District-provided units of study
- Independent reading books
- Core novels for grade level close reading and text-based writing
- Leveled guided reading books for small group instruction
- Mentor texts (e.g., picture books, narrative nonfiction, excerpts from chapter books, etc.) for mini-lessons and modeling

Supplemental:
- Notice and Note: Strategies for Close Reading by Kylene Beers and Robert E. Probst
- The Continuum of Literacy Learning: Behaviors and Understandings to Notice, Teach and Support (Pinnell and Fountas)

Interdisciplinary Connections:
- Historical fiction or fantasy books can be connected to discussion or instruction in social studies or science classes.
- Students can work with an art teacher to create a book cover or illustrate a favorite or important scene from a book.
Technology Connections:

- Audio versions of stories can be obtained to support auditory learners.
- Video versions of stories can be used to help students with visual cues of challenging fictional texts. It is not recommended that an entire video be used to replace reading a text, rather to be used at times as a modification and support for struggling readers.
- Websites:
  - Read, Write Think at www.readwritethink.org
  - The American Library Association’s Great Websites for Kids at http://gws.ala.org/
  - Storyline Online Sponsored by the Actors Guild at www.storylineonline.net

Accommodations or Modifications for Special Education, ESL or Gifted Learners:

- Many websites provide audio readings of books that can be used to support struggling readers or to challenge gifted readers to read books slightly above their independent reading level.
- Books on tape or CD for to support auditory learners. For books not available on tape, teachers or student volunteers (i.e., gifted readers) can always read a nonfiction book or passage onto a tape for others to listen to as they read along.
- Story Line Online (www.storylineonline.net) provides support to the auditory and visual learner, while entertaining an audience. Such performances support struggling readers.
- Selecting books for guided reading groups carefully will provide differentiation for students. Supporting students when they self-select novels will provide differentiation as well. Books must be chosen to align with student reading levels, instructional or independent, as determined by the most recent DRA administration. This practice supports both struggling and gifted learners.
- When reading fictional texts (i.e., short story, poem, etc.) in preparation for a testing situation such as the NJ ASK, student accommodations provided in IEP or 504 plans should be applied in class as well (i.e., computer use during testing situations, extended time, etc.).

List of Applicable New Jersey Student Learning Standards for English Language Arts:

Reading Standards for Literature
RL.5.1; RL.5.2; RL.5.3; RL.5.4; RL.5.5; RL.5.6; RL.5.9; RL.5.10
Section 2: Reading Informational Nonfiction
Pacing 90 Days Every Day for 1 hour
(Equivalent to 2 Marking Periods)

Why Is This Unit Important?

- Informational or nonfiction texts include, but are not limited to: magazines, newspapers, feature articles, posters, poetry, nonfiction picture books, trade books, biographies, autobiographies, cross-content reading and digital media sources if applicable.
- The organizational structure of a nonfiction text as well as text features embedded within an informational text provide needed information and are helpful to a reader.
- In order for one to become an independent reader of nonfiction, one must read actively and consider the topic, text structure and information provided in the text and in embedded text features.

Enduring Understandings:

- Each genre of nonfiction is organized differently, serves a different purpose and is intended for a specific audience.
- Utilizing the organizational structure of a nonfiction text will help a reader to more fully understand the text and will provide opportunities for the reader to navigate the text more easily.
- Reading nonfiction requires a different skill-set than reading fiction. True comprehension of nonfiction requires a reader to understand the text beyond factual recall. “True understanding happens when readers merge their thinking with the text, ask questions, draw inferences, think about what’s important and summarize and synthesize” (Harvey and Goudvis, The Comprehension Toolkit).

Essential Questions:

- What skills are required to read a nonfiction text? How do those skills differ from genre to genre?
- How do the skills required to read nonfiction differ from those required to read fiction? Why are they different?
- How does one become an independent reader of nonfiction? How does one develop the skills do to so?
Acquired Knowledge:

5th Grade
The genre of nonfiction consists of a variety of different genres, including but not limited to magazines, newspapers, feature articles, posters, poetry, nonfiction picture books, trade books, biographies, autobiographies, cross-content reading and digital media sources.

Text features can be used not only to locate information, but also to process new information; the information provided in text features and within the text must be considered together.

Information provided in print or digital sources can be used to help students answer a question quickly or solve a problem efficiently.

Inferences can be made based upon the information provided in a text; each inference must be supported and quoted or specifically referenced with the text.

One must integrate and reflect upon information presented in several texts on the same topic in order to write or speak about the subject knowledgeably.

A nonfiction text may focus on two or more main ideas, each supported by details; a concise summary will include all main points and supporting details.

Highlighting a text or chunking and annotating it will help a reader to remain active when reading and comprehend a text, even one above his/her independent reading level.

Specific details and examples from a text must be used to support one’s thoughts when responding to a text-based question.

Acquired Skills:

5th Grade
Read and comprehend a variety of nonfiction writing at the 5th grade reading level.

Identify text features, use them to comprehend text and explain how text features support or refute the information provided within the text.

Use visual or graphic elements (print or digital) to support a response that answers a question or solves a problem.

Use specific information provided in a text to infer meaning beyond the text; the inference must be supported with a quote or a specific reference from the text.

Compare and contrast two or more texts focusing on the same topic.

Read a grade level text, identify the topic and subtopics and identify key details that scaffold to that main idea (e.g., highlight key details, write margin notes and use those notes to draft a summary).

Write an objective summary including the overarching topic as well as the most important details from within each subtopic.

Use details, specific examples and quotes from the text as support when responding to a question related to a reading.
Assessments: Suggested assessments, but not limited to those listed

Formative:

- Teacher observation, conference and anecdotal notes
- Small or large group discussion

Summative:

- A variety of student written response, i.e., journals, graphic organizers, highlighting or annotating evidence, etc.

Benchmark:

- Text-based reading and writing quarterly assessment
- STAR Reading Assessment

Instructional Materials:

Core:

- District-provided units of study
- Independent reading books
- Nonfiction books from the Guided Reading bookroom
- Social Studies/Science texts
- Trade books
- Non-fiction materials (i.e., magazines, newspapers, posters, Internet resources, etc.)

Supplemental:

- Reading Nonfiction: Notice & Note Stances, Signposts and Strategies by Kylene Beers and Robert E. Probst
- The Comprehension Toolkit (Harvey and Goudvis)
- The Continuum of Literacy Learning: Behaviors and Understandings to Notice, Teach and Support (Pinnell and Fountas)

Interdisciplinary Connections:

- Reading topics connected to science or social studies content and curriculum
- Informational reading will occur within the social studies class as well as in reading
Technology Connections:

Websites for Teachers:

- Kids Sites at www.kidsites.com:
  o There are three main categories available when accessing this site: Educational, Fun Sites and Grown Ups. Within each category, there are other links (i.e., Educational - Dinosaurs; Fun Sites - Activities; Fun Sites - Comics; Fun Sites - Stories). From here, teachers can connect to a list of many websites that are interactive and fun.
- Annenberg Media: Teacher professional development and classroom resources across the curriculum at www.learner.org:
  o This Annenberg Foundation site, devoted to excellent teaching in America’s schools, is organized by grade span. The K-4 section contains information on teaching arts, literature and language, mathematics and science.
- NewsELA Elementary at https://e.newseLA.com/
- Teaching History: National History Education Clearinghouse at http://teachinghistory.org/
- National Archives at https://www.archives.gov/research/databases/

For Grade 3-5 Students and Teachers:

- National Geographic for Kids at www.nationalgeographic.com/kids
- Time for Kids at www.timeforkids.com
- Sports Illustrated for Kids at www.siforkids.com
- Reading Rockets online at http://www.readingrockets.org/books/nonfiction-for-kids
- Videos, either available online or VHS/DVD, highlighting information relevant to nonfiction texts or topics.

Accommodations or Modifications for Special Education, ESL or Gifted Learners:

- Books on tape or CD for to support auditory learners. For books not available on tape, teachers or student volunteers (i.e., gifted readers) can always read a nonfiction book or passage onto a tape for others to listen to as they read along.
- Repeated readings of nonfiction texts: read aloud, read along, listen to a tape, student tracks words with finger or pointer, student reads orally, student reads independently
• Assign a common topic, but differentiate books by reading level (i.e., all students read about sharks, but provide several different shark books at different reading levels to meet each student’s needs)
• Allow students to self-select books (topic and/or reading level), again, providing many different options in topic or reading level
• Videos are available on many websites (see those listed above) to help build background knowledge; such videos can be used to support struggling students or to enhance or challenge gifted learners.

List of Applicable New Jersey Student Learning Standards for English Language Arts:

Reading Standards for Informational Texts
RI.5.1; RI.5.2; RI.5.7; RI.5.9; RI.5.10
Section 3: Vocabulary Development and Word Work

Pacing: Vocabulary is taught, as necessary, throughout the entire school year. It is connected to the other units in various ways.

Why Is This Unit Important?

Vocabulary development will occur in and among other lessons throughout the school year and will focus on the skills needed for students to correctly decode unknown words, utilize “clues” to define unknown terms in context and use newly acquired vocabulary in one’s original writing. Vocabulary instruction will occur in both reading and writing classes and when possible, science and social studies. The big ideas embedded throughout this unit, which are supported by Put Reading First: The Research Building Blocks for Teaching Children to Read, are:

- “If readers can understand the words but do not understand what they are reading, they are not really reading” (Put Reading First, 2003).
- Words often consist of word parts which, themselves, have meaning. Knowing the meanings of word parts often helps one to define new vocabulary terms.
- Writers intentionally provide clues within the context of a sentence to help readers understand new key terms, thus helping readers to fully comprehend a text.
- Research supports the fact that providing opportunities for students to participate in “word play” (i.e., creating pictures, symbols, puns, original definitions, etc.) is the single most powerful factor in language acquisition (Allen, Marzano).
- Using dictionaries, glossaries and thesauri in conjunction with word work and word play will help to broaden and deepen students’ knowledge of words.

Enduring Understandings:

- Readers must know what most of the words in a text mean before they can understand what they are reading.
- Knowing some common prefixes and suffixes (affixes), base words and root words can help students learn the meanings of many new words.
- Providing time for students to explore and experiment with words (i.e., word work) promotes language acquisition.
- Because students learn many word meanings indirectly or from context, it is important that they learn to use context clues effectively.
- It is not possible for teachers to provide specific instruction for all the words their students need to know. Thus, students need to develop effective word-learning strategies, such as how to use a dictionary or other reference material.
Essential Questions:

- Where did base words, word parts or affixes originate and how can they help a reader to decode and/or define new words?
- How can a writer artfully include context clues in his/her writing?
- What can one do in order to become familiar with a new vocabulary word and make it part of his or her permanent language?
- Is there a difference between the skills used to “look up” a word in a paper dictionary versus an online dictionary?

Acquired Knowledge:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>5th Grade</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Semantic clues provided in a text help a reader to define key terms; such clues often take the form of a direct definition, list of examples or a restatement.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Word parts such as roots, prefixes and suffixes have meanings themselves; changing an affix can alter the meaning of the entire word.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Figurative language (i.e., simile and metaphor) is used by a writer to convey vivid images.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Reference materials such as glossaries and dictionaries are available on paper or online and assist readers by providing pronunciations, etymology, definitions and samples for myriad of words.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Words often have connotative meanings, words and feelings associated with the word, as opposed to its denotative or dictionary, meaning.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>When reading and writing across content areas, a writer must include grade-appropriate academic vocabulary and domain-specific vocabulary associated with the content and topic at hand.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Acquired Skills:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>5th Grade</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Examine semantic clues (i.e., definitions, examples or restatements in the text) to determine the meaning of an unknown word</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Use a known root word as a clue to the meaning of an unknown word (i.e., photograph, photosynthesis).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Interpret figurative language, including similes and metaphors</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Explain the meaning of common idioms, adages and proverbs.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Examine word parts to determine the meaning of a new word when the root word is known.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Consult reference materials such as a glossary or dictionary (print and digital) when encountering an unknown word.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Define relationships between words; i.e., how is smirk like and/or unlike smile?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Include academic vocabulary and domain-specific words (in English Language Arts, history/social studies and science) in one’s speaking and writing.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Assessments: Suggested assessments, but not limited to those listed

Formative:

- Incorporation of new vocabulary terms into writing (i.e., Language Arts writing, cross-content reports, etc.)
- Informal assessment of student understanding based upon oral language and class discussion

Summative:

- Assorted vocabulary quizzes

Instructional Materials:

Core:

- Graphic organizers
- Teacher-created vocabulary and word work activities
- Dictionary and thesaurus (paper or online)

Supplemental:

- Computer access and Internet availability
- Building Academic Vocabulary by Robert Marzano
- Words Their Way: Word Study for Phonics, Vocabulary and Spelling Instruction (Prentice Hall)
- Words, Words, Words: Teaching Vocabulary in Grades 4-12 by Janet Allen

Interdisciplinary Connections:

- Domain-specific and cross-content vocabulary must be considered during vocabulary instruction.

Technology Connections:

Web Resources for Teachers:

- Putting Reading First: The Research Building Blocks for Teaching Children to Read, Kindergarten through Grade 3 at http://lincs.ed.gov/publications/pdf/PRFbooklet.pdf:
  - This report sponsored by the National Institute for Literacy analyzes key research in reading instruction, focusing specifically on the five areas of reading instruction: phonemic awareness, phonics, fluency, vocabulary and text comprehension.
- Words their Way Word Sort Cards at http://educationextras.com/wordstheirway.html
Websites for Grade 3-5 Students and Teachers:

- Vocabulary Building Games at http://www.vocabulary.co.il/:
  - Students can play interactive games and can create puzzles using teacher-created lists.

- Vocabulary University at http://www.myvocabulary.com/:
  - Vocabulary University is a free resource used in over 24,000 schools to enhance vocabulary mastery & written/verbal skills with Latin & Greek roots.

Accommodations or Modifications for Special Education, ESL or Gifted Learners:

- Vocabulary lists can be differentiated for students. Differentiation can take the form of: words on the list, the number of words on the list, exercises or activities to support learning new vocabulary words, and/or assessment of mastery.
- The websites listed above would enable a teacher to again differentiate for learners with special needs and for gifted learners.

List of Applicable New Jersey Student Learning Standards for English Language Arts:

Language Standards
LS.5.4a; LS.5.4b; LS.5.4c; LS.5.5a; LS.5.5b; LS.5.5c; LS.5.6
Section 4: Narrative Writing
Pacing 60 Days Every Day for 1 hour

Why Is This Unit Important?

This unit will focus on the creation of stories, either real or imagined. The big ideas imbedded throughout this unit are:

- Narrative writing is often inspired by one’s life experience. When writing a fictional piece, a writer’s background knowledge (e.g., a previously read text or excerpt) serves as inspiration for the fictionalized aspects of a piece.
- The goal of narrative writing is to teach students to write a sequence of events with precise detail and to write in such a way that a reader can easily follow events.
- Narrative writing, either personal or fictional, includes literary elements found in fictional reading: character, setting, plot development through a series of events, conflict and resolution and often a lesson or theme.
- Writing with sensory details and a personal or emotional voice engages an audience.
- Dialogue is a powerful element to narrative writing when it is used to develop a character, establish or resolve the conflict or to move a story forward.
- Narratives should be focused stories or what Lucy Calkins calls “small moments...very focused vignettes.”
- Writers continually revise and edit their work to improve their writing, specifically focusing on organization, development, word choice, sentences and the conventions of writing.

Enduring Understandings:

- Narrative stories contain common literary elements: character, setting, conflict, resolution and theme.
- Chronology or sequencing is essential when storytelling.
- Writing from one’s personal experience or background knowledge allows him/her to include realistic detail and sensory imagery to a story.
- Dialogue should be included in a story only when it is used carefully and develops a character or moves the story forward; dialogue should not be written as a conversation in lieu of a story.
- When writing a work of fiction, a writer must also focus on a small moment and must ensure that each event in the plot leads the characters from a conflict to a resolution; the events must be focused.
- Focusing one’s story writing onto a small moment enables a writer to focus the story’s emotion and to build tension in a narrative, a tension that is relieved through the resolution of the conflict.
Essential Questions:

- How do personal or fictional narratives differ from other genres of writing (i.e., memoir, realistic fiction, etc.)?
- What is the benefit of writing from one’s personal knowledge? What is limited when writing only from experience?
- What does sensory detail add to a story?
- Does a conflict always have to be resolved?
- Can too much dialogue hurt a story’s narration?
- Why is sequencing important?

Acquired Knowledge:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>5th Grade</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Narrative stories include character, setting, conflict, a plot that unfolds naturally, resolution and theme.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The conflict, either internal or external, must be resolved in the story’s resolution and the conflict-resolution relationship must help the reader to understand the story’s theme.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Writing from one’s background knowledge enables him/her to add specific detail and sensory imagery using well chosen words.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Narrative techniques such as dialogue, pacing and description develop events and show characters’ external behaviors and internal responses.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Narrative stories must focus on small moments.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>After reading a fictional work, one can continue narrating the story, applying the information learned in this unit of study and writing the next chapter or retelling the story from a different perspective.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Acquired Skills:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>5th Grade</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Create narrative stories that include character, setting, conflict, a plot that unfolds naturally, resolution and theme.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Develop an internal or external conflict that is resolved through the progression of events that occur in the story, which leads to the development of a lesson or theme.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Select powerful words that will add sensory imagery and specific details to writing based on background knowledge and personal experiences.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Develop plot events and characters’ internal and external behaviors through the use of various narrative techniques (i.e., dialogue, pacing and description).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Create narrative stories, either personal or fictional, that focus on small moments.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Utilize information provided in a narrative text and draft another chapter or retell the story from a different character’s point of view.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

NOTE: Grammar skills are highlighted in the K-5 Grammar Scope and Sequence included in the curriculum.
Assessments: Suggested assessments, but not limited to those listed

Formative:

- Writer’s notebook
- Teacher conferences with anecdotal records

Summative:

- A variety of narrative writing pieces

Benchmark:

- Assessment tools provided in the Being a Writer Assessment Resource Book

Instructional Materials:

Core:

- Being a Writer (Center for the Collaborative Classroom)
- Units of Study (Calkins)
- Mentor texts

Supplemental:

- The Continuum of Literacy Learning: Behaviors and Understandings to Notice, Teach and Support (Pinnell and Fountas)
- 6+1 Traits of Writing: The Complete Guide Grades 3 and Up by Ruth Culham

Interdisciplinary Connections:

- Students can be encouraged to write about topics or content of interest to them that connects to topics studied in other classes (i.e., writing an historical fiction narrative incorporating historically accurate information learned in social studies class)
- Students can be encouraged to write about shared class experiences
- Multicultural picture books can be used as mentor texts and to help inspire students to write about their own cultures and traditions. The International Digital Children’s Library (http://en.childrenslibrary.org/) provides 5,000 different books, including both text and illustrations, representing hundreds of different cultures in hundreds of different languages.
Technology Connections:

- Being a Writer Online Resources in the Center for the Collaborative Classroom Learning Hub at https://ccclearninghub.org
- PARCC sample student responses highlighting narrative elements available at https://prc.parcconline.org/assessments/parcc-released-items
- Lucy Calkins Units of Study Resources CD-ROM (included in all Units of Study)
- Units of Study DVD Bundle (can be borrowed from the District Language Arts Supervisor)
- Picture books available online to be used as mentor texts (i.e., http://www.starfall.com/ or http://en.childrenslibrary.org/)
- Computer use for word processing

Accommodations or Modifications for Special Education, ESL or Gifted Learners:

- In the writing workshop, mini-lessons provide guidance for students to improve their writing. Such mini-lessons are planned based upon the needs of the students, thus incorporating differentiation into planning and instruction.
- Individual conferences are held, at which time teachers model good writing and provide individual instruction and/or feedback to students to meet each child’s individual needs. Such a format supports the struggling writer while challenging the gifted writer.
- Models and mentor texts must be provided so that students struggling with a concept or struggling writers have exemplars surrounding them; individual or small group conferences provide time for a teacher to help students make connections between a mentor text or texts and his/her own writing.
- Gifted writers can always be challenged to add more detail or elaboration (i.e., sensory imagery, show...don't tell, expand) and to incorporate compositional risks into their writing.
- Students who have weak fine motor skills may struggle with the physical demands of writing. Thus, when the narrative writing unit is completed in preparation for a timed writing situation such as the NJ ASK, student accommodations provided in IEP or 504 plans should be applied in class as well (i.e., computer use during testing situations, extended time, etc.).

List of Applicable New Jersey Student Learning Standards for English Language Arts:

Writing Standards
W.5.3a; W.5.3b; W.5.3d
Section 5: Expository Nonfiction Essay Writing
Pacing 60 Days Every Day for 1 hour

Why Is This Unit Important?

This unit will focus on the craft of expository nonfiction or informational essay writing and will help students to develop the skills needed to effectively communicate with an audience. The big ideas embedded through this unit are:

- The purpose of expository nonfiction or informational essay writing is for the writer to draw from what he/she already knows and from additional sources (i.e., books, web based research, interviews, etc.).
- The essay must focus on a clear topic and thoughts must be organized logically and coherently.
- Strong essays must meet certain criteria (i.e., the opening and closing are evident, main idea is clearly expressed and is supported with specific details, word choice is powerful, voice is clear and powerful, sentences are complete and Standard English is used effectively) to be considered proficient. In informational essay writing, the facts presented must be obtained from a reliable source and must be accurate.
- Writers continually revise and edit their work to improve their writing, specifically focusing on organization, development, voice, word choice, sentence structure and the conventions of writing.

Enduring Understandings:

- Academic or informational essay writing serves one of three purposes:
  - To increase a reader’s knowledge of a subject,
  - To help a reader better understand a procedure or process, or
  - To provide a reader with an enhanced comprehension of a concept.
- A topic must be supported using facts, definitions, details, quotations or other factual information and examples.
- An informational expository essay must include an introduction with a clearly focused topic; it must also contain a conclusion related to the information or explanation offered in the essay.
- In an informational essay, the writing and the accuracy of information are equally as important.
- Writing is never “done” and can always be improved. It is a recursive process, so writers can move from stage to stage, either forward or backward.

Essential Questions:

- What is the author’s purpose in expository or informational essay writing?
- What differentiates informational essay writing from other forms of writing (i.e., narrative, persuasive, poetic, etc.)?
- How does a writer support his or her thoughts without repeating himself or herself?
- How does one determine if information is true or if a source is reliable?
- How does a writer find reliable, accurate information?
Acquired Knowledge:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>5th Grade</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>The topic is clearly stated and supporting information is organized into focused paragraphs and sections.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Facts obtained through nonfiction reading (i.e., books, feature articles, Internet resources, etc.) are recorded and then organized to be used when writing the essay.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A topic is developed using relevant facts, concrete details, quotations or other information and examples.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Information is to be summarized or paraphrased and basic bibliographic information must be provided.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The essay must include an interesting introduction and a conclusion that is related to the information or explanation offered in the essay.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Appropriate linking or transition words are used to join ideas within and across categories of information.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Domain specific or technical terms are used when information connects to a specific content area or topic.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The rules of Standard English are to be applied when writing and editing a draft.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Acquired Skills:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>5th Grade</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Organize information into focused paragraphs and further organize the paragraphs into sections.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Utilize multiple reliable nonfiction sources to gather information focusing on one topic.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Record relevant information from the reading; notes are then used to organize information when drafting the piece.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Develop key points using relevant facts, concrete details, quotations and other examples.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Summarize or paraphrase information obtained through reading and research to support key points; bibliographic information is provided.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Apply lead strategies to develop an interesting introduction that is related to the information presented in the essay.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Include a conclusion section that connects to or extends from the information presented in the essay.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Use appropriate transition words to join ideas within and across categories of information.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Include domain-specific and/or technical terms to explain ideas presented in the essay.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Apply the rules of Standard English presented through mini-lessons as well as those offered during teacher conferences when drafting and when editing his/her draft.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

NOTE: Grammar skills are highlighted in the K-5 Grammar Scope and Sequence included in the curriculum.
Assessments: Suggested assessments, but not limited to those listed

Formative:

- Teacher conference, observations and anecdotal records
- Writer’s notebook or writing folder
- Self-editing, peer-editing or teacher-editing checklists

Summative:

- A variety of expository and nonfiction writing pieces

Benchmark:

- Assessment tools provided in the Being a Writer Assessment Resource Book

Instructional Materials:

Core:

- Being a Writer (Center for the Collaborative Classroom)
- Units of Study (Calkins)
- Mentor texts and nonfiction materials (i.e., magazines, newspapers, posters, Internet resources, etc.)
- Trade books

Supplemental:

- Online resources for nonfiction texts and reading/researching
- Graphic organizers (i.e., note-taking resources such as charts and tables)
- Comprehension Toolkit (Harvey and Goudvis)
- The Continuum of Literacy Learning: Behaviors and Understandings to Notice, Teach and Support (Pinnell and Fountas)

Interdisciplinary Connections:

- Student writing will be based on Science experiments, research connected to Science or Social Studies topics, field trips, etc.
Technology Connections:
Websites provided in the Reading Informational Nonfiction Unit, Grades 3-5 would provide informational reading opportunities that could then be linked to nonfiction writing opportunities. Thus, all websites provided in that Unit also apply here.

- Teacher websites such as Read, Write, Think (www.readwritethink.org), Pro Teacher (www.proteacher.com) or Web English Teacher (www.webenglishteacher.com) provide an abundance of instructional ideas or lesson plans focusing on writing research reports in the elementary grades.
- Computer use for word processing

Accommodations or Modifications for Special Education, ESL or Gifted Learners:

- Topics for research can be differentiated based upon student interest, reading level of materials, etc.
- In the writing workshop, mini-lessons provide guidance for students to improve their writing. Such mini-lessons are planned based upon the needs of the students, thus incorporating differentiation into planning and instruction.
- Individual conferences are held, at which time teachers model good writing and provide individual instruction and/or feedback to students to meet each child’s individual needs. Such a format supports the struggling writer while challenging the gifted writer.
- Models and mentor texts must be provided so that students struggling with a concept or who are reluctant writers have exemplars surrounding them; individual or small group conferences provide time for a teacher to help students make connections between a mentor text(s) and their own writing.
- Gifted writers can always be challenged to add more detail or elaboration (i.e., sensory imagery, show...don't tell, expand) and to incorporate compositional risks into their writing.
- Videos are available on many websites (see those listed in the Nonfiction Reading Unit) to help build students’ background knowledge. Such videos can be used to help support reluctant writers by getting them excited about their topic and by providing additional information so students can add details to their written work.

List of Applicable New Jersey Student Learning Standards for English Language Arts:

Writing Standards
W.5.2a; W.5.2b; W.5.2c; W.5.2d; W.5.2e; W.5.7; W.5.8

Language Standards
LS.5.1; LS.5.2; LS.5.3
Section 6: Argumentative Essay Writing
Pacing 60 Days Every Day for 1 hour

Why Is This Unit Important?

This unit will focus on the craft of argumentative essay writing and will help students to develop the skills needed to effectively support an argument in an attempt to persuade an audience. The big ideas embedded through this unit are:

- The purpose of argument writing is for a writer to draw upon his or her background knowledge (i.e., literature, history, current events) in order to support his/her opinion or point of view.
- The ideas presented in the essay must support a clearly worded thesis (purpose).
- Support must be factual and can take the form of specific examples from a variety of sources (i.e., other works of literature, history, science, current events, research from reliable sources, etc.).
- Strong essays must meet certain criteria (i.e., the opening and closing are evident, main idea is clearly expressed and is supported with specific details, word choice is powerful, voice is clear and powerful, sentences are complete and Standard English is used effectively) to be considered proficient.
- Writers continually revise and edit their work to improve their writing, specifically focusing on organization, development, voice, word choice, sentence structure and the conventions of writing.

Enduring Understandings:

- A thesis statement is the main claim that a writer is making (i.e., a position or argument) and is supporting throughout the essay.
- Support can take the form of definitions, details or quotations, must be factual and must be retrieved from a reliable source.
- A writer’s argument must be supported using a variety of different examples; one must avoid repetition.
- A writer’s voice must be passionate and powerful so his/her message or thesis is clearly conveyed.
- Writing is never “done” and can always be improved. It is a recursive process, so writers can move from stage to stage, either forward or backward.

Essential Questions:

- What is the purpose of argumentative essay writing?
- How does one incorporate compositional risk (i.e., anecdotes, symbols, imagery or sensory detail, etc.) within the structure of essay writing?
- What does the literary term voice mean? How does one include voice in his or her writing?
- What makes one source more reliable than another? How can one evaluate a source for reliability?
- How does a writer support his or her thoughts without repeating himself or herself?
Acquired Knowledge:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>5th Grade</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Prewriting activities (i.e., brainstorming, feeding and reflecting on the writer’s notebook, lists, notes, etc.) help a writer to organize his/her thoughts and focus a written response to develop a strong argument.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The writer’s argument or position must be clearly stated in a well worded thesis statement in the introduction of an essay.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Supporting details may take the form of facts, definitions or quotes; it is essential that a variety of details is provided and none are repeated.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Argumentative essays must include a powerful introduction and a strong conclusion with a repetition of the thesis and possibly a call to action.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>While organization and idea development are important, equally as important are sentence structure and the conventions of language.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Acquired Skills:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>5th Grade</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Organize thoughts before writing through the use of prewriting activities (i.e., graphic organizers, brainstorming, feeding the writer’s notebook, lists, etc.)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Utilize multiple reliable sources and record notes relevant to the research topic and subtopics that will be organized into paragraphs</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Create a thesis statement in which the writer states his/her argument relevant to a given topic; the thesis statement clearly communicates the purpose of the essay</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Provide factual details and elaboration to support an argument</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Create an interesting introduction that incorporates lead strategies presented through mini-lessons (e.g., an introduction that contains narrative elements).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Drafts a concluding section or paragraph that clearly connects to the position presented by the writer as well as a call to action</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Apply the appropriate rules of sentence structure and conventions of language when writing, particularly those presented through mini-lessons or provided to a writer during a teacher conference.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

NOTE: Grammar skills are highlighted in the K-5 Grammar Scope and Sequence included in the curriculum.

Assessments: Suggested assessments, but not limited to those listed

Formative:

- Teacher observation and anecdotal records
- Writer’s notebook or writing folder
- Self-editing, peer-editing or teacher-editing checklists
Summative:

- A variety of Argumentative writing pieces

Benchmark:

- Assessment tools provided in the Being a Writer Assessment Resource Book

Instructional Materials:

Core:

- New Jersey Registered Holistic Scoring Rubric, 5-point
- Mentor texts to demonstrate the power of persuasion and using voice to persuade
- Graphic organizers (i.e., note-taking resources such as charts and tables)

Supplemental:

- Crunchtime: Lessons to Help Students Blow the Roof Off Writing Tests—and Become Better Writers in the Process (Bernabei)
- Reviving the Essay: How to Teach Structure without Formula (Bernabei)
- Pyrotechnics on the Page: Playful Craft that Sparks Writing (Fletcher)

Interdisciplinary Connections:

- When possible, writing prompts can connect to cross-content issues (i.e., the environment, technology issues, etc.)

Technology Connections:

- Sample expository and/or explanatory prompts are provided on the NJ DOE website; the expectations of the NJ DOE on such written responses are categorized as “personal persuasive essay writing.” Thus, sample prompts provided on this site can and should be used when teaching this form of writing in the classroom.
- Websites
- The list of websites to support personal persuasive writing is still being created. Since the NJ DOE requirement is for students to include compositional risks and narrative elements in a persuasive response, a formatted five-paragraph response is insufficient. Thus, websites are still being vetted.
Accommodations or Modifications for Special Education, ESL or Gifted Learners:

- In the writing workshop, mini-lessons provide guidance for students to improve their writing. Such mini-lessons are planned based upon the needs of the students, thus incorporating differentiation into planning and instruction.
- Individual conferences are held, at which time teachers model good writing and provide individual instruction and/or feedback to students to meet each child’s individual needs. Such a format supports the struggling writer while challenging the gifted writer.
- Models and mentor texts must be provided so that students struggling with a concept or who are reluctant writers have exemplars surrounding them; individual or small group conferences provide time for a teacher to help students make connections between a mentor text(s) and their own writing.
- Gifted writers can always be challenged to add more detail or elaboration (i.e., sensory imagery, show...don’t tell, expand) and to incorporate compositional risks into their writing.
- Students who have weak fine motor skills may struggle with the physical demands of writing. Thus, when the personal persuasive writing unit is completed in preparation for a timed writing situation such as the NJ ASK, student accommodations provided in IEP or 504 plans should be applied in class as well (i.e., computer use during testing situations, extended time, etc.).

List of Applicable New Jersey Student Learning Standards for English Language Arts:

Writing Standards
W.5.1a; W.5.1b; W.5.1d; W.5.4; W.5.5

Language Standards
LS.5.1; LS.5.2; LS.5.3
List for Grade 5

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Grade 5 Language Skills List</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Please note: Conventions in italics and marked with an asterisk () denote skills and understandings that are progressive and require continued attention at higher grade levels as the sophistication of student writing and speaking increases.*</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Observe conventions of grammar and usage:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Form and use the perfect (e.g. I had walked, I have walked, I will have walked) verb aspects.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Recognize and correct inappropriate shifts in verb tense and aspect.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Observe conventions of capitalization, punctuation and spelling:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Use punctuation to separate items in a series.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Use underlining or italics and quotation marks to indicate titles of works.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Spell grade-appropriate words correctly, consulting references as needed.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Make effective language choices:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Expand, combine and reduce sentences for meaning, reader/listener interest and style.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Choose words and phrases to add emotion and/or voice to one's writing.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Determine word meanings (based on grade 5 reading):</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Determine or clarify the meaning of unknown or multiple-meaning words through the use of one or more strategies, such as using semantic clues (e.g. definitions, examples or restatements in text); using syntactic clues (e.g. the word's position or function in the sentence); analyzing the word's sounds, spelling and meaningful parts; and consulting reference materials, both print and digital.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Use a known root word as a clue to the meaning of an unknown word with the same root (e.g. telegraph, photograph, autograph).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Interpret figurative language, including similes and metaphors.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Explain the meaning of common idioms, adages and proverbs.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Use words that are common in conversational vocabulary as well as grade-appropriate academic vocabulary and domain-specific words (in English language arts, history/social studies and science), either taught directly or acquired through reading and responding to texts.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
ELA Curriculum Glossary of Key Terms

Argument Writing - the purpose is for a writer to change the reader’s point of view, to bring about some action on the reader’s part or to ask the reader to accept the writer’s explanation or evaluation of a concept, issue or problem; claims or opinions are offered and arguments are based upon facts, definition, quotations or details (Common Core State Standard, Appendix A).

Close Reading - (analytic reading) stresses engaging with a text of sufficient complexity directly and examining meaning thoroughly and methodically, encouraging students to read and reread deliberately; requires that students understand the central ideas and key supporting details in a text (PARCC, 2011).

Expository Nonfiction - the purpose is for a writer to inform a reader about a specific topic, one in which the writer may or may not have had prior knowledge; there is an overarching topic communicated in a thesis and factual information about subtopics organized into paragraphs.

Informational/Explanatory Writing - the purpose is to increase a reader’s knowledge of a subject, to help readers better understand a procedure or process or to provide readers with an enhanced comprehension of a concept; this type of writing conveys information accurately (New Jersey Student Learning Standards, Appendix A).

Informational Text - nonfiction texts, including but not limited to, biographies, autobiographies and memoirs; nonfiction books including picture books, textbooks and informational books; magazines, newspapers and other periodicals; online resources including information provided on .org, .edu and .gov websites.

Literary Text - refers to fictional works including short stories of fiction, chapter books, poems and other narratives.

Narrative Writing - the purpose is to inform, instruct, persuade or entertain; the writer conveys experience, either real or imaginary and uses time as its deep structure (New Jersey Student Learning Standards, Appendix A).

Reading and Writing Workshop - an instructional philosophy and class structure where students participate in a focused mini-lesson and apply that skill to a text at each student’s independent reading or writing level or in an instructional group with guidance and support; instruction and application occur daily and differentiation based upon reading level or writing need is embedded in the framework.

Text-Based Writing - writing that requires a student to provide evidence from a specific text as support for his/her response.
Sample Standards Integration:

21st Century Skills & Career Readiness Practices

CRP2. Apply appropriate academic and technical skills.

In sections 2 and 5 students are reading nonfiction and writing information essays. They are learning how to research and how to use reliable internet sources. Additionally, students are producing their research in a variety of ways. Students are using word processing applications as well as other digital tools to show what they have researched on various topics.

Technology Integration

8.1.8.B.1: Synthesize and publish information about a local or global issue or event.

When students study the Holocaust and read Number the Stars, they complete a culminating project. Students complete research on Heroes of the Holocaust. They read biographies and complete research. Finally, students create a website or a PowerPoint to present to their peers, parents, and other family and community members. Teachers work with students to learn how to publish the information digitally.

Interdisciplinary Connection: Social Studies

6.2 World History/Global Studies: All students will acquire the knowledge and skills to think analytically and systematically about how past interactions of people, cultures, and the environment affect issues across time and cultures. Such knowledge and skills enable students to make informed decisions as socially and ethically responsible world citizens in the 21st century.

In sections 2 and 3 students in grade 5 read several pieces of fiction and nonfiction. Students in grade 5 read the historical fiction novel, Number the Stars, by Lois Lowry. The book is set during World War II. In order to better understand the setting, plot, and characters, of the book, students learn about the Holocaust and World War II. Throughout the unit, students learn how the issues people faced affect our world today. Students think, respond, and write about the impact World War II had on people all around the world and how they can learn from the past to be morally and ethically responsible citizens today.