The word of the week is "voluntarily". It is an adverb, meaning "Done of one's own will; without having to be forced". Used in a sentence: "My parents were so happy when I came home and cleaned my room voluntarily without having to be reminded." If you'd like to contribute a sentence for this word, email or Gchat Ms. Burdick.

ALL slots have been filled for Game Night! If you were able to sign up through the Google Form, then you have a spot reserved for you at Game Night! You will be invited to a Google Classroom on Wednesday, March 10, 2020. Please make every effort to attend. Otherwise, you are taking the spot that someone else could have had. If you signed up but can't make it, please get in contact with Mr. Soto. Game Night will take place on Wednesday, March 10, from 5:00 to 6:30 PM.

March is Women’s History Month. We will be sharing quotes about famous women throughout the month.

African-American performer Josephine Baker was working in France during WWII, but not only as a singer, dancer and actress. She was also helping the war movement, smuggling numerous messages to French soldiers. She often hid messages inside her dress or concealed with invisible ink on her sheet music. Baker’s work in the war is only part of what makes her such an amazing figure, as she was the first African American female to star in a major motion picture, perform in a concert hall and played a big role in the Civil Rights Movement.

National Proofreading Day, celebrated each year on March 8, is a day to promote error-free writing. We all make typos, grammar mistakes, and spelling errors when we write, especially if we are moving too fast! National Proofreading Day is an opportunity to slow down, proofread our work, and then proof it again. And if you're lucky enough to work with a teacher who proofs your work for you, National Proofreading Day is a great opportunity to thank them for always ensuring that your writing is free of mistakes. <https://nationaltoday.com/>

The Soar Club will be sharing Guess Who Trivia statements daily about a mystery staff member, revealing the secret each Friday. Can you guess who?

Today's clue is: This enrichment teacher's favorite hobbies include cooking and watching professional wrestling. Guess who?
